

Satari Amber

Only Love is Real

SATARI AMBER
ONLY LOVE IS REAL

Angel Thoughts

A Day of Remembering

Namaste Lightworkers,

For the past couple of weeks some of you have heard there is significance with today's date 7/7/07 (777). Any time you see a number three times it usually causes you to pay attention to it, which means the energy of that number is magnified. Today I asked my Higher Self what does this number mean, what was brought to my attention is how I have been feeling. Have any of you been feeling more emotional than usual, have events taken place that have caused you to feel very uncomfortable with certain areas of your life, are you not satisfied with the direction that your life is taking, or are you being hard on yourself and others? If the answer is yes these feelings are probably magnified more than usual. You are not alone this is the energy of the number 7.

In numerology the number 7 is associated with inner reflection, and solitude, in angel numbers 777 is a confirmation that you are listening to your inner guidance. The great thing about this energy is that it allows you to learn and brings light to what you want and what you want to become. We have become aware of our personal power, we are learning how to shift ourselves out of negativity and move forward in light and truth. Because of this awareness it is hard or near impossible to move backwards energetically.

This day strengthens our connection with who we really are, it represents deepening and relying more on our relationship with our Source (God), accepting the fact that we come from this Source and that we are receiving messages and guidance on a regular basis. Allow yourself to use your inner wisdom often, going within into a place of solitude to allow yourself to know the truth of every situation. To learn to trust yourself (stop telling yourself you are not doing it right), affirm to yourself today that you are loved, guided and supported. Remember that with solitude comes deep understanding of the self, you begin to trust who you are and that who you are is magnificent.

My inner sanctuary

Think of today as a day of remembering who you are, practice trusting yourself and God. I am personally making a commitment today and going forward to practice trusting that every opportunity, decisions and steps taken are divinely guided.

You will notice next week your heightened sense of awareness of what is real and important to you, you will have a sense of knowingness that all is well; you will feel a greater sense of peace and contentment.

Remember you are love,

Satari

Special event: Tele-Channel with Archangel Michael regarding the significance to 777 this event is free to the public. For more information

To remove your name from our mailing list, please click here
satari.angel@satariamber.com
www.satariamber.com
214-636-6221

Please feel free to post any questions or comments on the "Angel Blog"

Events:

- July 7th, 2007: Tele-Channel of Archangel Michael
- July 14th, 2007: Gott Roxx
- July 29th, 2007: Angel Cluster